Heather Wray-Isquierdo, M.A., L.P.C.
Senior Consultant and Executive Coach
MDA Leadership Consulting

What is the special quality that some leaders have, while other well-qualified individuals fall short? It can be summed up by the term "presence", and has, at its core, credibility. Leaders who possess this important presence give others confidence, and help followers feel well led. Heather Wray-Isquierdo will explain the six characteristics of a high performance leader, and conduct mini workshop exercises to explore our individual strengths and weaknesses in this important area of our lives. Heather has a M.A. in Psychology and a B.S. in Business Administration, and brings with her 15-years of experience in executive coaching and counseling. Heather will guide our group through self-assessment exercises and provide an easy to read feedback report that we can implement in our personal lives, as well as in our professional careers.

Cost: $35 per Person
